'The Royal Society of Medicine is a unique and special institution'

You could think of the RSM as a distinguished Venn diagram of medical and healthcare expertise, of learning and networking, of established practice and innovative thinking. Nowhere else offers such a wealth of useful and fascinating intersections.

Today, the Society is a driving force in advancing health through education and innovation. We bring together doctors and other healthcare professionals at every level, empower them to deliver patient care in the best way possible and enable them to thrive in their careers.

We have a fantastically diverse and inspiring membership that helps to keep us informed and relevant, and we're always pressing to deliver maximum value through our education programme.

New lectures are added each week and with the vast majority, there's the option for members to earn online CPD credits at a discount of 50% on the non-member price.

Members pay just £12 per credit - or £95 a year for unlimited access; something you can choose to add immediately to your membership when you join.

At a glance...

- Online access to over 800 videos – and growing
 - New videos added each week
 - Searchable by specialty or subject
- The chance to earn CPD credits on the go
 - View wherever you have your laptop, tablet or mobile

An extensive programme of medical education to support your professional development

The RSM offers one of the most extensive programmes of medical education in the UK.

As well as being highly engaging, our courses and conferences provide the ideal opportunity to network with speakers and colleagues.

As a member, you'll enjoy preferential discounts on events. You'll also receive priority invitations to our highly-regarded Medical Innovations Summits; an international showcase of work from the innovators, entrepreneurs and researchers who are shaping the future of medicine, and our global health lectures and debates.

At a glance...

- Preferential discounts on over 400 events each year
 - Spanning 56 medical specialties and areas of interest
 - Most with CPD accreditation
- Priority invitations to special events including:
 - Medical Innovations Summits
 - Global health lectures and debates

'The enormous value of the RSM is the combination of broad, globally-focussed, trans-speciality educational programmes complemented by world-leading speciality events.'

Mr Simon Lambert,
Fellow since 2001
